LINCOLN. THE JEW'S HOUSE

LL6366

TUCK'S POST CARD.

CARTE POSTALE. POSTKARTE.

The Jew's House, Lincoln. This relic of early Norman architecture is situated in the Strait. It was inhabited by Deleset, of Wallingford, a rich Jewess, who was hanged in 1290 on a charge of debasing the King's coin and her house confiscated. A stone house in early times was the sign of opulence, and the Jews from their wealth and also for security were often possessors of houses similar to the one depicted.
